Abstract

Homeopathy has a promising role to play in the cases of Abdominal colic. This study was undertaken to corelate the effectiveness of anti-miasmatic remedies in the cases of Abdominal colic.The term 'constitution' has been used by homoeopaths in at least two ways. It has been used in a pathological context, to refer to the miasm theory and other attempts to account for chronic disease, and it has been used in a pharmacological context, to refer to the "drug pictures" of Kent and his disciples. In recent times these two usages have become somewhat confused, so that the modern idea of constitution is really a blurred mixture of both. Here I shall consider them separately.

Keywords: Dominant Miasm, Constitutional Remedy, Individualization, Constitutional Treatment.

INTRODUCTION

By Miasmatic childrens is implied those conceived tormented with at least one of the persistent Miasms of Hahnemann. In order to give the few physicians able to do this work the chance they need, it is necessary to provide homes for such children in favorable circumstances, and in an environment free from interfering influences.

As before stated, one's imagination can hardly grasp the benefit to the medical profession as well as to the patients treated and their descendants, of such Homes for Miasmatic Children.

Now, apply all this to children and behold! the effort to free them in youth that they may reach full, free development of power, becomes one of the very best satisfying and important undertakings on this earth. There is nothing so sure to open the eyes of the doubting to the efficiency and value of homoeopathy, as the amazing results of wise, constitutional, Miasm-freeing treatment of children. And there is nothing so important to new, better ages as the development of miasm-free children into the kind of adults who may produce children still more free and therefore powerful.

MATERIAL AND METHODS

Research carried out from all available literature books and database such as PubMed, Google Scholar and Cochrane Library using Mesh Terms: "constitution and homeopathy", "constitutional treatment".

I. Differential Diagnosis Of Acute Abdominal Pain In Children By Age (Infants And Toddlers (0-4years), School Ages (05-11years), Adolescents (12-18years).
II. Disease Differentials - Significants - Homoeopathic Miasmatic Evolution.
III. Colic, Pain Abdomen - Homeopathy Treatment & Homeopathic Remedies, (Characteristics Particular - Homoeopathic Remedies).
IV. Worms Causing Pain & Homoeopathic Medicines Indications, (Worms And Homoeopathic Medicines).

Aim And Objective

- As the disease is a constitutional defect, it cannot be brought into a normal state without the help of a deep-acting constitutional remedy.
- The remedy selected was covering the dominant miasmatic state. Therefore, no separate anti-miasmatic remedy regulation was considered.
- Role of constitutional remedy in the treatment of constitutional defects.
- Importance of gaining the parent's confidence in pediatric case management.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSIONS

ABDOMINAL PAIN IN THE ABDOMEN IS- A MAGICAL BOX AND HOMOEOPATHY IS A SCIENTIFIC SCIENCE TO TREAT MAGIC.

Homeopathic medication is comprehensive, harmless, non-poisonous, and non-habit-forming and can be utilized related to regular Stomach torment is perhaps one of the most widely recognized reasons a parent carries their youngster to the specialist. Surveying the "stomach" can be a test for the two guardians and clinicians. Medication for kids. invigorate the body's capacity to mend itself.

Constitutional schemes based on pathology von grauvogl

The basis of much of the early discussion of homoeopathic constitution was Hahnemann's miasm theory. However, Hahnemann himself does not use the term constitution in this (or any other) context, and indeed he regards the miasms as acquired, not congenital, so they could not be considered to be constitutional in the true sense of the word. A genuinely constitutional theory, however, was put forward by a slightly later German homoeopath, von Grauvogl, whose Textbook of Homoeopathy was published in 18651 Von Grauvogl's scheme was based on pathological ideas that were then just coming into vogue, and he adopted the 'modern' view that the teachings of the "physiological school, commonly called allopathy" were both useful and necessary, and that homoeopathy and allopathy were not mutually incompatible but were indeed complementary.

This broadmindedness would have earned him Hahnemann's undying enmity had the Master still been alive at the time. (He was, nevertheless, a firm advocate of high potencies.)

It seems to me, however, that before embarking on elaborate research projects of this kind we ought first to ask ourselves some much simpler and more fundamental questions, such as:

- ✓ How did the constitution idea get into homoeopathy in the first place?
- ✓ Is it really as central to homoeopathy as seems to be believed by many modern homoeopaths?
- ✓ 3. Is the idea a coherent one anyway?

Psychological correlation

It is important to know the essential structure of the individual and understand fully what could have caused the susceptibility to alter and create a way for the disease.

Miasm is an invisible, dynamic, disease producing potential. It is called Prima Causa morbi (fundamental cause for all-natural diseases), the Causa Causorum (cause for the causes). It is the fundamental and efficient cause of all sickness andcreates obstacles in the process of cure. Miasm is term comparable to diathesis, dyscrasia, constitution or terrain. Hahnemann recognized three miasms, which he called Psora, Sycosis, Syphillis. Dr Hahnemann gave the theory that every living organism is formed of MIND, BODY, and SPIRIT (by spirit he meant vital force). Therefore, it becomes essential for a rational homeopath to understand the significance of this trinity both individually and collectively. One can only then perceive the configuration of a living constitution in its totality, its physio-pathogenesis and its cure. It is important to accept the fact that at present, each human being is characterised by a miasmatic modulation through which its individuality tries to emerge. For a true homeopath it becomes essential to know about the miasm of underlying disease condition, it will not only help in deducing the true picture of that individual but also the evolution and prognosis of that condition.

Homoeopathy can correct episodes of worm infection by the administration of constitutional medicine and indicated medicine. Homoeopathic medicines help in the better expulsion of worms from the body and the absorption of nutrients from the intestine.

Children-future-health care-homoeopathy is the best solution

A constitutional prescription is based on the totality of the mental and physical reactions along with the chief complaints. It will cover the level of susceptibility and tendencies, the behavioural pattern and the underlying miasms. Thus, selected constitutional medicine helps to modify the susceptibility. Constitutional medicine also can correct the tendencies and abnormal behaviors and reactions to the environment, which will help the child to live in a better way.

CONCLUSION

The nature part of the nature/nurture argument.Constitutional refers to what is present at conception. The being-ness of the individual before they assume a personality. It includes characteristics such as variations of body type, metabolism, connective tissue type, palms of hands (short palms, long fingers variations) their intrinsic impressionability, basic deep level attraction, repulsion.
